Master Copy, Brand & Data Document

Homepage Copy — StoryBrand Framework — Copy Instructions — Source Data
Version 1.0 | localservicerocket.com

This document contains three things in one place: all the verified source data for the company, the complete framework for generating any future page copy, and the final approved homepage copy word-for-word. Give this to any writer, AI tool, or developer working on the site and they have everything they need.

PART 1 — Company Source Data

All copy must be drawn from this section. No invented claims, no vague superlatives without a data point behind them.

1.2 Audiences

Audience	Who They Are + What They Want

Secondary — DFY clients	Local business owners (any industry) who want the marketing system built and managed for them. They don't have time to learn — they just want results. They pay a flat monthly fee and own everything that's built.

PART 2 — Copy Framework

These are the rules for generating any copy on this site — homepage, service pages, blog posts, ads, or emails. Apply all of them together. They are not optional guidelines — they are the system.

2.1 The StoryBrand Framework

All pages on this site follow the StoryBrand framework created by Donald Miller. The core principle: the customer is the hero of the story. Your brand is the guide. The framework has 7 stages that map directly to page sections.

Stage	What It Does + How to Apply It
1 — Character (Hero)	Open every page by speaking to what the customer wants. Not what you do. Not who you are. What do they want? State it in the first 10 words. For this site: 'AI Marketing Systems That Get Local Businesses to the Top of Google.'
2 — Problem	Name the specific obstacle between the customer and what they want. StoryBrand identifies three layers: External (the visible problem), Internal (how it makes them feel), Philosophical (why it's wrong that this problem exists). Address all three — but don't announce them. Weave them in.
3 — Guide	Position the brand as the experienced helper. EMPATHY FIRST — show you understand the problem. Then AUTHORITY — prove you can solve it. Never lead with credentials. Lead with empathy.
4 — Plan	Show 3 clear steps from where they are to where they want to be. The plan removes the 'what happens next' anxiety that stops people from taking action. Keep it to 3 steps. 4 maximum.
5 — CTA	Ask for the action explicitly. StoryBrand distinguishes: Direct CTA (Book a call, Join now) and Transitional CTA (Learn to do it yourself — lower commitment). Both must appear on every page.
6 — Failure	Name what's at stake if they don't act. Use sparingly — one paragraph maximum. Donald Miller's exact words: 'like salt'. Enough to add flavour. Too much and it's manipulative.
7 — Success	Paint the picture of life after. Be specific. Not 'grow your business' — tell them exactly what changes. More calls. Rankings. Revenue. Time back.

Critical StoryBrand rule: If you confuse, you lose. Every headline must pass the grunt test — a stranger should be able to look at it for 5 seconds and answer: who is this for, what do they get, how do they get it. If they can't, rewrite it.

2.2 Page Section Order

This is the recommended section order for any page on this site. It follows StoryBrand. It can be adapted — not skipped.

1

Hero — Character + Desire

H1 + subheadline + 3 proof bullets + 2 CTAs + social proof bar

2

Problem — Three Walls

The external, internal, and philosophical problem. Named specifically. Never vague.

3

Guide — Empathy then Authority

One empathy sentence. Then proof stats and credentials. Not the other way around.

4

Results — Proof

Real clients. Real numbers. Named industries and locations. Link to live sites where possible.

5

Plan — 3 Steps

How to work with you. Removes anxiety. Ends with a CTA.

6

Services + Pricing

Specific prices. Short descriptions. Outcome-first. Secondary CTA to education.

7

Failure — Stakes

One paragraph. No bullet list. Name the cost of inaction. Move on.

8

Success Vision

What the customer's business looks like once this is working. Split by audience where needed.

9

Final CTA

Repeat the direct and transitional CTAs. Guarantee line. One rocket line (see 2.6).

2.3 Voice & Tone Rules

These rules apply to every sentence on every page. They are not stylistic preferences — they are what separates copy that converts from copy that gets ignored.

Rule	What It Means in Practice
Outcomes before features	State what the customer gets before explaining how you do it. Wrong: 'We use AI to optimise your Google Business Profile.' Right: 'Your business shows up in the top 3 on Google Maps — set up and managed using AI.'
Specific beats general	Replace every vague word with a number, a name, or a timeframe. Wrong: 'fast results'. Right: 'top 3 rankings in 30 days'. Wrong: 'great revenue growth'. Right: '$60k → $250k/month'.
Short sentences	If a sentence has more than 20 words, split it. Confident copy is short copy. Agencies write long sentences to sound impressive. You write short sentences because you have nothing to hide.
No hedging	Remove: 'we aim to', 'we strive to', 'we try to', 'we believe', 'hopefully'. Replace with direct statements. If you can't make it direct, the claim isn't strong enough to include.
Empathy before authority	In the guide section: the customer's problem comes first. Your credentials come second. Every time.
No fluff adjectives	Remove: world-class, industry-leading, cutting-edge, innovative, passionate, dedicated, comprehensive, holistic. If the adjective could apply to any competitor, cut it.
Plain language	Write for someone who has just finished a long day on a job site. No jargon. No marketing speak. Every word must earn its place.
Active voice	Wrong: 'Results are guaranteed by us.' Right: 'We guarantee results.' Always active.

2.4 Two Audiences — How to Handle Both

Audience A — Local Business Owners (DFY clients)

What they want: their phone ringing with customers who are ready to buy.

Their problem: they've tried agencies and been burned, or they tried DIY and it didn't work.

What speaks to them: specific results (top 3 in 30 days, $250k/month), flat pricing, guarantee.

Their CTA: Book a Free Strategy Call.

Audience B — SMEs, Web Builders, Agency Owners (Education)

What they want: a faster, cheaper way to deliver marketing results — for themselves or their clients.

Their problem: agencies are expensive and opaque. DIY is slow and confusing. AI has changed what's possible but they don't know how to use it yet.

What speaks to them: 60-minute builds, the proof that this system produces real rankings (Dry Duck), the idea that they can learn it and own it.

Their CTA: Learn to Do It Yourself — Free (links to Skool community).

On the homepage: both audiences are addressed. The hero section speaks to both. The plan section speaks to DFY. The services section has a secondary path to education. The success section shows both their 'after' state. Never write a page that ignores one audience entirely.

2.5 SEO Rules

Rule	How to Apply It
H1 must include primary keyword	The H1 is the most important SEO element on the page. It must contain the primary keyword for that page. On the homepage: 'AI Marketing Systems That Get Local Businesses to the Top of Google'. Never change H1 to something purely thematic.
First 100 words include keyword	The primary keyword must appear naturally in the first paragraph of body copy. Not stuffed — woven in.
H2s are outcome-first + keyword-adjacent	H2s do double duty: they tell skimmers what each section is about AND they help Google understand the page. Keep them literal and specific. Rocket metaphors stay out of H2s.
Never keyword stuff	If reading the copy aloud sounds unnatural, remove the keyword. One natural use is worth ten forced ones.
Consistent CTA text	Google reads repetition as a signal. Use the same CTA text in the same spots on every page: 'Book a Free Strategy Call' (DFY) and 'Learn to Do It Yourself' (education).
Alt text on all images	Descriptive, keyword-contextual. Not 'image1.jpg'. Example: 'Dry Duck Basements website ranking top 3 Des Moines waterproofing'.

Primary keywords for the homepage:

- AI marketing systems for local businesses
- AI marketing for small businesses
- get local business to top of Google
- AI website builder for local business
- local SEO using AI
- Google Ads management AI

2.6 The Rocket Theme — One Rule

The rule: use the rocket theme once, at the very end, as a signature line. Nowhere else.

The rocket theme lives in the brand name and logo. That's enough — it works passively. Running rocket metaphors through the copy competes with the message for the reader's attention. StoryBrand is unambiguous: clarity beats cleverness. A metaphor the reader has to decode is a conversion lost.

The one approved rocket line appears at the bottom of the final CTA section:

"Local Service Rocket. The name means something — let's get you off the ground."

This line works because by the time a visitor reads it, they've processed the entire page. It lands as personality, not noise.

Use this	Not this
Voice-driven energy: short sentences, bold claims, zero hedging	Rocket metaphors in section headlines: 'Reach orbit with our SEO'
Specificity as the energy source: 30 days, $250k/month, top 3	'Launch your marketing into the stratosphere'
One rocket line in the final CTA — earned by the page	Rocket references in H1 or H2
'Book a Free Strategy Call' — direct, no metaphor	'Start your countdown' or 'Begin your launch sequence'

2.7 Before Writing Any Page — Ask These First

Do not write a single word of copy for a new page until you can answer all of these:

- Who is the primary hero on this page — DFY business owner, or AI marketing learner? Pick one.
- What is their single specific desire on this page? Not their general goal — the specific thing they want from this page.
- What is the external problem stopping them? (The visible, tangible obstacle.)
- What is the internal problem? (How does that external problem make them feel?)
- What result can we name specifically for this page? (A number, a client, a timeframe.)
- What are the 3 steps on this page? (Plan section — what do they do next?)
- What is the primary H1 keyword for this page?
- What does 'success' look like at the end of this page's story?

If any of these can't be answered specifically — find out before writing. Generic answers produce generic copy. Generic copy does not convert.

2.8 The Writer's Checklist — Run Before Every Publish

Check	Standard
H1 includes primary keyword	Check against keyword list in 2.5. If the keyword isn't in H1, rewrite H1.
Every bold claim has a data point	Number, client name, or timeframe within 1–2 sentences of the claim.
Outcomes lead, features follow	Read every service description. If the first sentence describes a process rather than a result, rewrite it.
Both audiences have a path	The DFY CTA ('Book a Call') and education CTA ('Learn Yourself') both appear.
Failure section is one paragraph	Not a bullet list. Not two paragraphs. One paragraph. Then move on.
No fluff adjectives	Ctrl+F: world-class, industry-leading, cutting-edge, passionate, innovative. Delete all.
No hedging verbs	Ctrl+F: aim to, strive to, try to, hope to, believe. Delete all.
Rocket theme used once only	The rocket line appears in the final CTA section. Nowhere else.
Guarantee mentioned once on the page	Appears in the services section or the final CTA. Not both.
CTA text is consistent	'Book a Free Strategy Call' and 'Learn to Do It Yourself' — same words, every time.
Coastal Current: no ranking claims	Until the site is live and confirmed ranking, reference as 'portfolio' not 'results'.

PART 3 — Home Page Copy

This is the final, approved homepage copy word-for-word. Every element is ready to hand to a developer. Items marked [TBD] require a decision before publishing.

Navigation

Element	Copy
Logo	Local Service Rocket
Nav link 1	AI Services
Nav link 2	Results
Nav link 3	About
Nav link 4	Learn to Do It Yourself [links to: skool.com/60-minute-marketing-5841]
Nav CTA button	Book a Free Strategy Call → [right-aligned, always visible on scroll]

The CTA must appear in the nav bar at all times. StoryBrand: visitors decide in seconds. The button must be visible before they scroll.

Section 1 — Hero

StoryBrand stage: Character. Answer in 5 seconds: who is helped, what do they get, how.

H1	AI Marketing Systems That Get Local Businesses to the Top of Google

Section 2 — Problem

StoryBrand stage: Problem. Three walls — external, internal, philosophical. Named specifically.

H2

Most Local Businesses Are Invisible on Google — and the Usual Fixes Don't Work

Opening line

If you've tried to get your business found online, you've probably hit one of these three walls:

WALL 1 (EXTERNAL PROBLEM — THE VISIBLE OBSTACLE)

Heading

You hire an agency and hand over $2,000+ a month for a black box.

Body

No clear reporting. No ownership of the system. The moment you stop paying, everything stops.

WALL 2 (INTERNAL PROBLEM — HOW IT FEELS)

Heading

You try to learn it yourself and spend six months going nowhere.

Body

Too many tools. Too much conflicting advice. A half-built website and no rankings to show for it.

WALL 3 (PHILOSOPHICAL PROBLEM — WHY IT'S WRONG THAT THIS EXISTS)

Heading

AI has changed what's possible — but most businesses don't know it yet.

Body

What used to take a specialist six weeks can now be built in an afternoon. The businesses that figure this out first will own their local market. The ones waiting won't.

Section 3 — Guide

StoryBrand stage: Guide. Empathy first, then authority. Not the other way around.

H2

We Built This System on Real Clients Before We Offered It to Anyone Else

Empathy line

We've watched too many good businesses get burned by agencies that promised rankings and delivered excuses.

Authority paragraph

So we built the system ourselves — tested it in real markets, across real industries — and proved it worked before we taught it to anyone. Alistair St Pierre has spent 12+ years in tech, is a certified Google Partner, and has run these systems for clients across New Zealand, Australia, and the United States. Every client we've launched ranks in the top 3 on Google in their area.

STATS BAR (4 PILLS)

- Certified Google Partner
- $250k/month client result
- Top 3 Google — every client
- Rankings in 30 days

Section 4 — Results

StoryBrand: success proof. Lead with Dry Duck — most relevant to new audience. Coastal Current as portfolio only until live.

H2

Real Results. Real Businesses. Built With AI.

Intro line

Every site and campaign we build uses the same AI system we teach. These are live examples.

CARD 1 — DRY DUCK BASEMENTS (LIVE + RANKING — USE AS PRIMARY PROOF)

Tag	Website + AI SEO — Des Moines, Iowa
Heading	Top 3 in a 10-mile radius — within 30 days of launch
Body	Dry Duck Basements launched with a website built and optimised using AI. Ranking in the top 3 for local waterproofing searches within one month. Bringing in real enquiries from Des Moines homeowners.
Link	dryduckbasements.com →

CARD 2 — COASTAL CURRENT (PORTFOLIO ONLY — NO RANKING CLAIMS UNTIL LIVE)

Tag	Website Build — South Orange County, CA
Heading	A complete electrician website — built with AI, ready to rank
Body	Coastal Current Electrician. Full site built using AI — service pages, location pages, structured for local SEO from day one. Launching soon. We'll publish ranking results when it's live.
Link	Preview the site → [links to: coastal-current-website.vercel.app]

CAMPAIGN RESULTS — 4 SMALLER CARDS

Card	Copy
Iowa SEO + Google Ads	$60k → $250k/month. +316% revenue. $300k peak Dec 2025. Had worked with 6 failed agencies before this system.
Texas Google Ads + LSA	1 location → 4 locations. 50–80 booked jobs/month. Expanded in under two years using Google Ads alone.
Melbourne Website + SEO	$0 → $700k revenue in 2025. Zero residential calls before this system. Three calls a day within weeks of launch.
Phoenix Google Ads	Zero leads → 5–8 calls/week. Previous agency had produced nothing. GBP and site fixed in 14 days.

When Coastal Current goes live and rankings are confirmed: replace the portfolio card with a results card using the same format as Dry Duck. Two live examples in two different industries makes the pattern undeniable.

Section 5 — Plan

StoryBrand: removes 'what happens next' anxiety. 3 steps. Ends with a CTA.

SERVICE CARDS — 3 COLUMNS

Service	Price + Description
Website Build	[Price TBD] one-off payment. SEO-optimised website built using AI. Designed to rank and convert. Live fast — not weeks from now.
SEO	$400/month. Local rankings, on-page optimisation, Google Maps visibility. The signals that get you to page 1 — managed with AI, not guesswork.
Advertising	$400/month. Google and Facebook ads that generate real enquiries. AI manages targeting and optimisation. You set the budget.

EDUCATION SECONDARY PATH (BELOW SERVICE CARDS)

Subheading	Not ready to hand it over? Learn to build it yourself — free.
Body	We teach the exact AI systems we use — website builds, SEO, Google Maps, and ads. Access the training free. Build it yourself, or bring it to your clients.
CTA	Learn to Do It Yourself → [links to Skool community]

Section 7 — Failure / Stakes

StoryBrand: one paragraph, no bullet list, no more. Name the cost of inaction — then move on immediately.

H2	Every Month You're Not on Page 1, Someone Else Is Getting Your Customers
Body	Google favours businesses that have been showing up consistently. The ones at the top of your market today started building six months ago. AI has compressed the timeline — but only for the businesses using it. The longer the gap, the harder it gets to close.

Section 8 — Success Vision

StoryBrand: paint the promised land. Specific. Split by audience.

H2	What Your Business Looks Like With a Working Marketing System

CARD — LOCAL BUSINESS OWNERS

Heading

Your phone rings from people who already want what you sell.

Body

Top 3 on Google Maps. Page 1 in search. Ads running to the right people. Your competitors are still paying agencies — you own your system.

CARD — WEBSITE BUILDERS AND AGENCY OWNERS

Heading

You deliver a complete, ranking marketing system to a client in days — not weeks.

Body

Website live. GBP optimised. SEO in place. You charge for results, not hours — because AI handles what used to take a team.

Section 9 — Final CTA

StoryBrand: repeat the ask. No new information introduced. Rocket line appears here — and nowhere else on the page.

H2

Ready to Get Your Business Found?

Body

Book a free 30-minute call. We'll look at your current setup, tell you exactly what's holding you back, and show you what a working AI marketing system looks like for your business. No pitch. No pressure.

ROCKET LINE — APPEARS HERE ONLY, NOWHERE ELSE ON THE PAGE

"Local Service Rocket. The name means something — let's get you off the ground."

This is the only place the rocket theme appears as copy on this page.
By this point the visitor has read the full page. A single wry line here reads as personality.
At the top of the page it would have been noise. At the bottom, it earns its place.
